RATIONALE:

A Capstone Project emerged from individualized program of study. Ultimately, a capstone project represents new work, and ideas, and gives the opportunity to demonstrate the knowledge and skills gained during certain period of time in doing something for a common good. <https://blog.tesu.edu/whats-a-capstone-project-and-wh..> By integrating theory and practical experience, the project can set one apart others from his or her institutions. Imagine walking into a potential employer's office with an applied research project exploring solutions to an issue or problem the organization, or industry as a whole, has been grappling with.

Today, it's important to understand the trends early on in the process, and the tools available to develop and deploy new technology. The Capstone project uniquely brings together individuals and professions from all majors within an agency or organization in an interactive and collaborative fashion to discuss and examine opportunities, challenges and issues related to technology.

In this time of pandemic, usual face to face activities were not being realized due to fear of being infected with this fearful corona virus. So, there is a need to provide virtual and online activities to provide or connect with each other to Activities that are aligned in the provision of budget for capability building programs among teachers and other personnel to address issues and concerns need to be provided. There is a need to strengthen or maximize the utilization of internet connectivity to inform or connect with each other.
